Click to prove you're human

```
Nigerian Army ranks and salary 2024. This post will show you all the ranks in the Nigerian army and their symbols. Do you want to know more about the current Nigerian Army? If yes, kindly read this post to the end in order to grasp everything you need to know about the current Nigerian Army ranks and stars. You will be provided with the Nigerian Army ranks badges picture to help you understand the Nigerian army ranks symbols. 1. Field Marshal Field marshal (FM) is a very senior military rank, ordinarily senior to the general officer ranks. It is the highest rank in an army. It is considered as a five-star rank (OF-10) in modern-day armed forces in many countries. Promotion to the rank of field marshal in many countries historically required extraordinary military achievement by a general (a wartime victory). Field Marshal The picture above depicts the rank Symbol for Field marshal. 2. General A general officer is an officer of high rank in the army. The title of general is known in some countries as a four-star rank. It has a NATO code of OF-9. General Symbol 3. Lieutenant General Lieutenant general is a three-star military rank used in many countries. The rank traces its origins to the Middle Ages, where the title of lieutenant general use a captain general was held by the second in command on the battlefield, who was normally subordinate to a captain general. Lieutenant General It has a Nato code of OF-8. 4. Major General Major general is a military rank used in many countries. It is derived from the older rank of sergeant major general outranking a major outranking a lieutenant. Major General It has a Nato code of OF-7 5. Brigadier General Brigadier general or brigade general or brigade general is a senior rank in the armed forces. It is the lowest ranking general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries, usually sitting between the ranks of colonel and major general officer in some countries.
troops. Brigadier General In some countries, a brigadier general is informally designated as a one-star general (OF-6). 6. Colonel colonel is a senior military forces, such as those of Monaco or the Vatican, colonel is the highest rank. It is also used in some police forces and paramilitary organizations. Colonel Nato code: OF-5 7. Lieutenant Colonel Lieutenant Colonel Lieutenant Colonel Several police forces in the United States use the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. The rank of lieutenant colonel is a rank of lieutenant colonel is often shortened to simply "colonel" in conversation and in unofficial correspondence. A lieutenant colonel is typically in charge of a battalion or regiment in the army. Lieutenant Colonel 8. Major Major is a military rank of commissioned officer status, with corresponding ranks existing in many military forces throughout the world. Major 9. Captain The army rank of captain is a commissioned officer rank historically corresponding to the command of a company of soldiers. The rank is also used by some air forces and marine forces. Today, a captain is typically either the command of a company or artillery battery. Captain 10. Lieutenant A lieutenant is the second junior-most or in some cases the junior-most commissioned officer in the armed forces, fire services, police, and other organizations of many nations. Lieutenant 11. Second Lieutenant Second Lieutenant Ongoing Recruitment in Nigeria: The salary scale of the Nigerian Army depends on the rank of the officer: N80,000 Staff Sergeant: N68,000 Corporal: N58,000 Lance Corporal earns about N54,000-55,000; Private Soldier earns about N48,000-49,000. General: N1.5 million Lieutenant Colonel - N350,000 Kajor - N300,000 Colonel - N350,000 Lieutenant Colonel - N350,000 Lieutenant Colonel - N350,000 Lieutenant Colonel - N350,000 Captain - N220,000 Lieutenant Colonel - N350,000 Captain - N220,000 Lieutenant Colonel - N350,000 Captain - N35 kindly drop your question in the comment box. Last Updated on January 19, 2024 by Admin The Nigerian Army is the largest military branch of the Nigerian Army is the largest military branch of the Nigerian Army is the largest military branch of the Nigerian Army has a long and proud history, dating back to the formation of the Royal Niger Company Constabulary in 1897. The Nigerian Army is also one of the strongest defense forces in Africa and has played a key role in many of Nigerian Army is a modern and professional force that is committed to protecting Nigeria's security and interests. Ranks and symbols are important for the Nigerian Army because they help to identify and distinguish between different levels of authority and responsibility. They also help to instill a sense of pride and esprit de corps among soldiers. THE STRUCTURE OF THE NIGERIAN MILITARY The Nigerian Armed Forces (NAF) is the backbone of the country's defense, safeguarding its citizens from both domestic and foreign threats while preserving the nation's territorial integrity. The NAF comprises three distinct service branches, each with a unique role in ensuring Nigeria's security: Nigerian Army: The bedrock of the NAF, the Nigerian Army is tasked with maintaining peace on land, upholding law and order, and spearheading humanitarian missions. With its robust ground forces, the Army stands as a formidable guardian of Nigeria and internal stability. Nigerian Navy: Vigilant protectors of the nation's maritime domain, the Nigerian Navy patrols the vast expanse of Nigeria's coastal waters, ensuring the country's security and sovereignty at sea. From safeguarding Migeria's maritime interests. Nigerian Air Force: Soaring above the battlefield, the Nigerian Air Force provides air supremacy, cargo transport aircraft, and helicopters, the Air Force dominates the skies, ensuring Nigeria's aerial defense and tactical superiority. Together, these three service branches form a cohesive and formidable defense force, safeguarding Nigeria's sovereignty, protecting its citizens, and contributing to regional and global security. The Nigerian Army, established in 1960, is responsible for land warfare and is controlled by the Nigerian Army Council. Its history dates back to the formation of the Royal West African Frontier Force in Nigeria in 1900. The army has undergone modernisation efforts since 2015, with a focus on arms procurement, training, and a new doctrine centred around information gathering, mobility, and firepower. The army currently consists of over 6,000 officers and 150,000 soldiers. NIGERIAN ARMY RANKS AND INSIGNIA The Nigerian Army ranks are organized into commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers. The Nigerian Army maintains a well-defined rank structure, where each position holds specific responsibilities, status, and insignia. By observing a soldier's uniform, one can readily identify their rank, their role within the army, and even their approximate earnings. Let's delve into the various Nigerian Army non-commissioned officer ranks play a vital role in the army's organizational structure and chain of command. These ranks signify increasing levels of seniority, responsibility, and expertise within the non-commissioned officer cadre. The Nigerian Army has a hierarchical structure with the following ranks for non-commissioned officers in ascending order: Recruit/Trainee - It is the lowest rank in the Nigerian Army. The rank is for recruits who do not have insignia.
Visit the Nigerian Army recruitment portal for recruitment portal for recruitment. A Trainee might get one shoulder mark. Private Soldier - This is the second rank after the trainee position. Lance Corporal - This is slightly higher than the recruit/trainee position but the second lowest officer rank. A Lance Corporal receives a one-shoulder mark. Corporal - It is the third lowest level of the Nigerian Army hierarchy. A Corporal has two shoulder marks and oversees a troop's body. Sergeant - A Sergeant of the Nigerian Army. A Staff Sergeant has three shoulder marks and a golden eagle on top Warrant Officer/Sergeant First Class - Its insignia is the golden eagle surrounded by the matching golden crown made of olive leaves. A Warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warrant Officer is an assistant of the Master Warrant Officer warran Officer/Master Sergeant is the Nigerian Coat Of Arms, where the horses are silver, and the rest is golden. NIGERIAN ARMY RANKS FOR COMMISSIONED OFFICERS The Nigerian Army has a hierarchical structure for its commissioned officers. These ranks denote the levels of authority and leadership within the officer cadre. Each rank signifies increased responsibility and the opportunity for professional growth. The commissioned officer ranks in the Nigerian Army include: Second Lieutenant is adorned with a single silver star, or a six-pointed star. The definition of lieutenant is "substitute." First Lieutenant: The officer's shoulders are adorned with two silver stars arranged vertically are awarded to captains. Within the tactical troop organisation, this is the highest level. Major: Each shoulder of a major is adorned with a silver eagle. In the Nigerian Army, it is one of the lowest ranks for field officers. Lieutenant Colonel: The deputy to the colonel is a lieutenant colonel. The officer has a silver eagle and a silver eagle and a silver star on each shoulder that are oriented vertically. Among field officers, this rank falls somewhere in the middle. Colonel: A vertically aligned silver eagle and two silver stars are affixed to each shoulder of a colonel. In the hierarchy of field officers, the officers are mostly in charge of brigades. On each shoulder, a brigadier general is adorned with three silver stars. A silver eagle perches above a triangle formed by the stars. Major General: A mid-level commissioned officer rank is a major general. The officer is adorned with a golden symbol on each shoulder, which is a crossed sword and baton beneath a golden eagle. The Nigerian Army's third-highest rank is lieutenant general. Lieutenant Generals are identified by the gold shoulder-mounted symbol, which is a cross between a sword and baton, a star, and a crossed sword and baton arranged vertically. Within the Nigerian Army, it is the second-highest rank. Army Field Marshal/General of the Army:
This is an unachievable rank, and no one has ever claimed it in the history of the Nigerian Army. An Army Field Marshal is required to wear a gold symbol on both shoulders, which consists of a crossed sword and baton encircled by two branches with an eagle perched on top. These ranks represent a progressive career path for officers, with promotions based on experience, performance, and seniority. The highest rank of Field Marshal is a position of great honor and authority within the Nigerian Army. Commissioned officers in the Nigerian Army hold key command, leadership, and strategic decision-making roles. They are responsible for overseeing military operations, ensuring discipline and morale, and upholding the values and traditions of the army. The commissioned officer ranks form the backbone of the Nigerian Army's leadership structure. As officers progress through the ranks, they acquire increasing levels of responsibility, gaining the necessary experience and expertise to effectively lead and manage the army's operations. The commissioned officer ranks in the Nigerian Army reflect the commitment to professionalism, excellence, and service to the nation. SYMBOLS OF NIGERIAN ARMY RANKS The Nigerian Army utilizes various symbols and badges to represent the ranks of its officers. These insignia are worn on the uniforms of army personnel to indicate their rank and position within the military hierarchy. The symbols are designed to be visually distinctive and easily recognizable, allowing for clear identification of the individual's rank. Among the symbols used in the Nigerian Army are ropes in the shape of triangles, stars, eagles, crossed swords, and torches. Each symbol carries its own significance and is associated with a specific rank. For example, the use of a rope in the shape of a triangle may indicate the rank of a Second Lieutenant, while stars could represent a Brigadier General or higher. These symbols play a crucial role in distinguishing the various ranks within the Nigerian Army, ensuring a clear and efficient chain of command. They also foster a sense of pride, professionalism, and discipline among army personnel. By wearing their respective symbols, officers not only demonstrate their rank but also contribute to the overall visual identity of the Nigerian Army's flag have it significance and meaning. The logo/flag features Arabic text on a red, black, and red background with an eagle perched on a shaded six-pointed star. Nigerian army flag These are what they signify: Eagle: The eagle represents the army's grace and might. In times of peace, the army patrols the skies, like an eagle, and in times of war, it hits the enemy with deadly accuracy. Star: The star reflects Nigeria's unity, which was established in 1914. A black star that has combined with a yellow star appears to be a shadow. The two stars represent the coming together of the Northern and Southern Protectorates to form Nigeria. Arabic writing: The Arabic writing is the Nigerian Army's motto. It implies that victory comes from God alone. Red: The Red represents the enemy forces, and it is common practise in NATO to employ this colour in military elements. Black: The Black denotes cavalry and other soldiers. IMPORTANCE OF NIGERIAN ARMY BADGES Facilitate rank identification Communicate hierarchy and chain of command Reinforce discipline and professionalism Foster a sense of pride and identity among personnel DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF NIGERIAN ARMY RANKS Each rank in the Nigerian Army carries specific duties and responsibilities, contributing to the overall functioning and effectiveness of the military. The roles of commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers differ based on their levels of authority and responsibilities within the military hierarchy. DUTIES OF COMMISSIONED OFFICERS Command and Leadership: Commissioned officers are responsible for commanding units and leading soldiers in operations and training exercises. They provide guidance, make strategic decisions and enforce discipline within their units. Operational Planning: Commissioned officers develop operational Planning: Commissioned officers play a key role in training soldiers, ensuring they are prepared for combat and equipped with necessary skills and knowledge. They mentor and guide their subordinates to foster professional growth and maintain high standards of performance. DUTIES OF NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS Training and Discipline: Non-commissioned officers are responsible for training and maintaining discipline among soldiers. They enforce standards, conduct drills, and provide guidance to ensure soldiers are physically fit, proficient in their duties, and adhere to military regulations. Operational Execution: Non-commissioned officers play a vital role in the execution of military operations. They lead small units, supervise soldiers, and ensure tasks are carried out efficiently and effectively. Mentoring and Support: Non-commissioned officers provide mentorship, guidance, and support to soldiers under their command. They assist in their personal and professional development, promoting teamwork, and fostering a positive work environment. The clear division of duties and responsibilities between commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers enables the Nigerian Army to function effectively, maintain discipline, and achieve its objectives. This military hierarchy ensures a well-organized chain of command, allowing for efficient decision-making and the successful execution of operations.
HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE OF ARMY RANKS AND SYMBOLS The ranks and symbols in the Nigerian Army hold great historical significance, representation of the army's rich heritage and traditions, instilling a sense of pride and identity among its personnel. These symbols and ranks serve as a reminder of the sacrifices made by past generations and the bravery displayed in defending the nation. Throughout history, the Nigerian Army has played a vital role in various conflicts and peacekeeping missions. The ranks and symbols worn by army personnel not only reflect their individual achievements and seniority but also contribute to the overall discipline, structure, and professionalism within the army. They provide a clear visual hierarchy that helps maintain order and cohesion during operations. The historical importance of the military hierarchy that helps maintain order and cohesion during operations. The historical importance of the military hierarchy that helps maintain order and cohesion during operations. The historical importance of the military hierarchy that helps maintain order and cohesion during operations.
underwent modernization efforts, the ranks and symbols were modified to reflect changing times and strategic priorities. Today, they continue to hold significance as indicators of seniority, experience, and authority within the army. Furthermore, these ranks and symbols also contribute to the overall national identity, as they represent the Nigerian Army's role in upholding the country's sovereignty and protecting its citizens. They serve as a source of inspiration and motivation for current and future generations, driving them to uphold the army's legacy of honor, courage, and selfless service. IMPORTANCE OF RANKS AND SYMBOLS IN MILITARY IDENTITY The ranks and symbols in the Nigerian Army play a crucial role in forming the military identity of its personnel. They go beyond mere indicators of seniority and authority, serving as powerful symbols of pride, professionalism, and discipline. Each rank carries with it a set of responsibilities and expectations, shaping the behavior and mindset of soldiers and officers alike. By wearing their rank symbols, army personnel visibly demonstrate their commitment to their duties and to the nation. These symbols act as a constant reminder of the Nigerian Army. They foster a sense of belonging and unity, strengthening the camaraderie among soldiers and creating a shared sense of purpose. In addition to fostering military identity, these ranks and creating a shared sense of purpose. In addition to fostering military identity, these ranks and creating a shared sense of purpose. In addition to fostering military identity, these ranks and creating a shared sense of purpose.
processes. The hierarchy established by the ranks allows for effective delegation of responsibilities, as each rank represents a specific level of expertise and experience. This enables the army to function as a well-oiled machine, with each soldier and officer knowing their place and role in the larger mission. The importance of ranks and symbols in military identity cannot be overstated. They embody the values and ethos of the Nigerian Army, serving as a source of inspiration and motivation for its personnel. Through these symbols, soldiers and officers uphold their pride in serving their country, reinforcing their commitment to defending the nation's interests and maintaining peace and stability. The ranks and symbols not only distinguish individuals within the army but also strengthen the collective identity of the entire organization. ROLE OF RANKS AND SYMBOLS IN PROMOTIONS AND CAREER PROGRESSION Ranks and symbols in the Nigerian Army play a crucial role in career progression and promotions. Advancement in rank signifies increased responsibility, authority, and opportunities for professional growth. The army follows a rank-based promotion system, where individuals move up the ladder based on their performance, experience, and qualifications. Career progression in the Nigerian Army is a combination of time-based promotions and merit-based evaluations. As personnel fulfill their duties and gain experience, they become eligible for promotion to the next rank. This progression ensures that individuals are consistently challenged and given opportunities to develop their skills and leadership abilities. The symbols worn by army personnel also serve as important indicators of seniority. These after. They not only provide individuals with increased responsibilities and authority but also come with additional benefits and recognition. Successful career progression is a testament to an individual's dedication, professionalism, and commitment to serving their country. WHO HOLDS THE HIGHEST MILITARY RANK IN NIGERIA? The highest military rank in Nigeria is the Army Field Marshal/General of the Army. However, since the country gained independence in 1960, no one has achieved this prestigious level. HOW CAN I DETERMINE MY RANK IN THE NIGERIAN ARMY? By examining the logos and symbols they wear on their uniforms (the shoulders), you can differentiate Nigeria's reflected in these ranks and symbols, which have evolved over time to reflect the nation's history and the army's role in it. Ranks and symbols also form an integral part of the military identity of Nigerian Army personnel. They instill a sense of pride, professionalism, and discipline among soldiers and officers, fostering a cohesive and unified force.
Additionally, these ranks and symbols are directly linked to career progression and promotions, with higher ranks symbolizing increased responsibility, authority, and opportunities for professional growth. They serve as visible indicators of seniority and experience within the army, guiding career paths and distinguishing individuals in the military hierarchy. The Nigerian Army (NA) is the largest and most respected branch of the Nigerian Army has grown by a lot in terms of manpower and strength making it one of the most formidable armed forces on the African continent. There are currently around 150,000+ soldiers and around 6,000 officers serving in the Nigerian Army today and each soldier in the army is assigned a rank that is often identified by a badge and has a specific salary that is largely determined by their ranks and years in service. The ranks in the Nigerian army are mainly divided into two parts - the Commissioned officers and the Non-Commissioned officers are also known as ENLISTED PERSONNEL. Commissioned officers who graduated upon the completion of their degree program at the Nigerian Defence Academy, Kaduna. The Non-Commissioned officers, on the other hand, are officers who joined the Nigerian Army through the Regular Recruit Intake (RRI) program which is conducted by the Nigerian Army, yearly. Most Non-Commission officers eventually work their way up to the level of the commission officers but most times this doesn't come very easy. In this article, we will explore the different ranks in the Nigerian Army and the corresponding salaries attached to them. Here, you will find all the ranks in the Nigerian Army alongside their various symbols/badges/insignia. We will also be including the Nigerian Army alongside their various symbols/badges/insignia. We will also be including the Nigerian Army alongside their various symbols/badges/insignia.
General (4-Star General) Lieutenant General (3-Star General) Major General (3-Star General) Major General (1-Star General) Major General (2-Star General) Major General (2-Star General) Major General (2-Star General) Major General (3-Star General) M section of the article, we will be giving you a breakdown of the take-home pay/salary structure of officers and cadets enlisted in the Nigerian Army. As expected, officers with higher ranks earn more than the Non-Commissioned officers/enlisted personnel in the Nigerian army. General - 1.5 Million Naira (Monthly) & 18 Million Naira (Monthly) & 18 Million Naira (Monthly) & 18 Million Naira (Monthly) & 11.4 Million Naira (Monthly) & 6.6 Million Naira (Monthly) & 6.6 Million Naira (Monthly) & 10.4 Million Naira (Monthly) & 11.4 Million Naira (Monthly) & 12 Million Naira (Monthly) & 13 Million Naira (Monthly) & 14 Million Naira (Monthly) & 15 Million Naira (Monthly) & 15 Million Naira (Monthly) & 16 Million Naira (Monthly) & 17 Million Naira (Monthly) & 18 Million Naira (Yearly) Lieutenant Colonel - 350,000 Naira (Monthly) & 4.2 Million Naira (Yearly) Major - 300,000 Naira (Monthly) & 2.6 Million Naira (Yearly) First Lieutenant - 180,000 Naira (Monthly) & 2.16 Million Naira (Yearly) Second Lieutenant - 120,000 Naira (Monthly) & 1.44 Million
Naira (Yearly) Corporal - 58,000 Naira (Monthly) Staff Sergeant - 63,000 Naira (Monthly) Warrant Officer - 80,000 Naira Nigeria, the Field marshall rank MUST be given to an officer only on honorary grounds and no officer can attain this rank via promotion. As history may have it, no officer in the army. This rank is equivalent to the Marshal (Nigerian Air Force) and Admiral of the fleet (Nigerian Navy). Technically, the General is the highest-ranking officer in the Nigerian army since no officer has been able to attain the position of the Chief Of Defence Staff. The General is similar to the Air Chief Marshal (Nigerian Air Force) and the Admiral (Nigerian Navy). The Lieutenant General is a high-ranking officer in the Nigerian army, above Major General, and below the general. Most officers who attain the rank of Lieutenant General is a high-ranking officer in the Nigerian Army usually occupy the office of the Chief of Army Staff (COAS). The Lieutenant General ranks just below the General in the Nigerian Army. Lieutenant General is also a high-ranking officer in the Nigerian Army and the Air Marshals in the Nigerian Army and air force, above Brigadier or Brigadier General is also a high-ranking officer in the Nigerian Army and the Niger the army. Major Generals are similar to the Rear Admirals in the Nigerian Navy and the Air Vice Marshal in the Nigerian Navy and the Air Vice-Marshal in the Nigerian Senerals. It is equivalent to the Rear Admiral in the Nigerian Navy and the Air Vice-Marshal in the Nigerian Air Force. The Brigadier General in the Nigerian Army. A Colonel is a 1-star general in the Nigerian Army. A Colonel is a senior military officer whose rank is equivalent to the Captain Rank in the Nigerian Navy and the Group Captain Rank in the Nigerian Air Force. A Major is a military rank of commissioned officer in the Nigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Captains but a junior to the ranks in the Nigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Captains but a junior to the Captains but a junior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Captains but a junior to the Captains but a junior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Captains but a junior to the Captains but a junior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Captains but a junior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Captains but a junior to the Captains but a junior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct superior to the Rigerian Army which is a direct s Nigerian Air Force. The army rank of captain in the Nigerian army is a commissioned officer rank historically corresponding to the command of a company of soldiers. This rank in the Nigerian Air Force. A First Lieutenant is a commissioned Soldier in the Nigerian Army. This rank is just below the Captains and superior to the Second Lieutenants. It is also equivalent to the rank of a sub-lieutenant in the Nigerian Army (Commissioned). Second Lieutenants are the lowest ranking officers of all Commissioned officers in the Nigerian Army but they are higher-ranking officers than all Non-commissioned officers in the Nigerian Army is an important institution that plays a crucial role in ensuring the safety of the lives and property of Nigerians against both external and internal security threats - whatever or whoever they may be. Like most armed forces around the world, the Nigerian army is a lierarchical institution with various ranks that reflect different levels of responsibility and authority. The salary of soldiers in the Nigerian Army is also largely dependent on rank and years served. While the salary of both commissioned and non-commissioned and non-commissione the land component of the Nigerian Armed Forces, responsible for land-based military, alongside the Nigerian Navy (responsible for maritime operations) and the Nigerian Armed Forces, responsible for land-based military, alongside the Nigerian Navy (responsible for maritime operations).
growing inquiries from individuals seeking a comprehensive understanding of the ranks and corresponding salaries within the Nigerian Army. It's essential to emphasize that the details provided here are current as of 2024, offering the most recent updates on the organizational hierarchy and financial compensations within the Nigerian Army. We recognize the significance of staying informed, particularly for those contemplating a career in the military or for those simply curious about the structure of the Nigerian Army. However, please be aware that the information shared is for information shared is for information shared is for information shared is for those simply curious about the structure of the Nigerian Army. most accurate and up-to-date details. Individuals with an SSCE certificate receive a starting salary of approximately #50,000 upon joining the Nigerian Army with an NCE or National Diploma also receive a starting salary of about #50,000. HND and BSC certificate holders in the Nigerian Army are paid a starting salary of approximately #50,000 upon joining the Nigerian Army.
around #120,000. Below is a comprehensive breakdown of ranks and salaries in the Nigerian Army: RankStarting Salary ()Second Lieutenant120,000Lieutenant120,000Major General1,000,000General1,500,000 RankStarting Salary ()Private 50,000 Lance Corporal 57,000 Corporal 60,000 Sergeant 70,000 Staff Sergeant 80,000 Warrant Officer 120,000 Master Warrant Officer 120,000 It's important to note that the starting salaries mentioned above are approximate figures and can change based on government policies and economic conditions enlisted rank. They follow orders, participate in drills, and carry out basic tasks assigned by higher-ranking soldiers. Lance Corporals take on more responsibilities, often serving as team leaders. They are expected to lead small groups of soldiers during various activities. Corporals take on more responsibilities, often serving as team leaders. They are expected to lead small groups of soldiers during various activities. overseeing small units and ensuring tasks are completed efficiently. They may also assist in training and mentoring lower-ranking soldiers. Sergeant: Sergeants are non-commissioned officers (NCOs) responsible for leading and supervising small groups of soldiers.
effectively. Staff Sergeant: Staff Sergeants typically take on more administrative and supervisory duties. They may serve as platoon sergeants typically take on more administrative and supervisory duties. They may serve as platoon sergeants and are responsible for the welfare and discipline of the soldiers under their command. Warrant Officer, Class I: The highest-ranking Warrant Officer, Class I, holds a senior leadership role. They may serve as regimental sergeant major, providing leadership, guidance, and expertise to both officers and enlisted personnel. Second Lieutenant: S Lieutenants are newly commissioned officers. They serve as platoon commanders and are responsible for leading and training their units. Lieutenants continue to serve in leadership roles, often commanding larger units and gaining experience in planning and executing military operations. Captain: Captains are company commanders leading a company of soldiers. They play a crucial role in planning and executing missions, as well as ensuring the welfare of their troops. Major: Majors typically serve as battalion staff officers or commanders of specialized units. They are responsible for overseeing and coordinating the activities of multiple companies. Lieutenant Colonel: Lieutenan Colonels hold key leadership positions, often serving as battalion commanders or staff officers at higher headquarters. They play a vital role in planning and executing military operations. Colonels may serve as brigade commanders, overseeing multiple battalions. They play a strategic role in planning and executing military campaigns. Brigadier General: Brigadier Generals hold senior leadership positions within the Army. They may serve as brigade commanders or staff officers at higher headquarters, contributing to strategic planning. Major Generals are senior Army officers at higher headquarters, contributing to strategic planning. Major Generals are senior Army officers at higher headquarters, contributing to strategic planning. Major Generals are senior Army officers at higher headquarters, contributing to strategic planning.
play a crucial role in formulating military strategy and policy. Lieutenant General: Lieutenant Generals are typically Corps Commanders, responsible for overseeing multiple divisions. They may also serve in high-level command positions, contributing to national defense strategy. General: The highest rank in the Nigerian Army, Generals hold top leadership positions such as Chief of Army Staff. They are responsible for overall strategic planning, policy formulation, and ensuring the readiness of the entire Army. This comprehensive guide provides a detailed overview of the Nigerian army ranks, including their responsibilities and the associated salary scales. Plus, you'll learn about the differences between commissioned and non-commissioned officers and the symbols that signify each rank. READ ALSO: Where Is Zuma Rock Located? The Nigerian Army's rank structure is categorized into Commissioned Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers (NCOs): Commissioned Officers (NCOs): Commissioned Officers (NCOs): Commissioned Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers (NCOs): Commissioned Office military leaders responsible for making decisions and leading troops. They usually graduate from the Nigerian Defense Academy or similar institutions. For example, a Second Lieutenant may command a small unit, while a General oversees larger operations. Their salaries are higher than those of non-commissioned Officers (NCOs) Non-Commissioned Officers (NCOs) are key figures in the military, including the Nigerian Army. They hold ranks like sergeant and corporal, selected from enlisted personnel. NCOs oversee soldiers, ensuring daily operations run smoothly. They are responsible for training, maintaining discipline, and boosting morale among troops. Here's a breakdown of monthly salaries for both Commissioned Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers (NCOs): Salaries For Commissioned Officers General: $1,500,000 Lieutenant General: $1,000,000 Major General: $950,000 Brigadier General: $750,000 Colonel: $750,000 Colonel: $350,000 Major: $300,000 Colonel: $350,000 Major: $300,000 Major: $3
Staff Sergeant: #80,000 Sergeant: #80,000 Sergeant: #70,000 Corporal: #50,000 Lance Corporal: #57,000 Private Soldier: #50,000 READ ALSO: Top 10 Richest LGAs In Nigeria What Additional Benefits and Allowance (BAS) Clothing Allowance Travel Allowance Non Monetary Benefits Medical Care Leave Days Educational Benefits Retirement Benefits In the military world ranking and Egypt leads African military by Algeria, South Africa and Nigeria. A global military ranking institution, Global Fire Power (GFP), citing United States' Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) Fact book, said the country retains the first spot in global military strength. There are three forces in the Nigerian Mavy, Nigerian Mary, the Nigerian Mary, the Nigerian Mary, the Nigerian Mary, the Nigerian Mary strength and military strength.
Nigerian Army. The Nigerian Army (formerly Royal West African Frontier Force) was founded in 1990. They were trained by the British and also helped them to fight World War 2. The post-colonial Nigerian Army (NA) traces its origins to 1863 when British Naval Lt. Glover established "Glover's Hausas." He used the small force of runaway slaves to mount expeditions to the hinterland primarily to protect British trade routes. From this humble beginning the West African Frontier Force later evolved and gave birth to the Nigerian Army, except that the Nigerian Army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army, except that the Nigerian Army are mostly patterned after those of the British army are mostly patterned after the Nigerian Army are mostly patt British crown on the insignia of officers of the rank of Majors and above. The Nigerian Army (NA) is the land division, the 2nd Division, the 3rd Armoured Division, 81st Division, 82nd Division, and newly formed 7th Division. Here's the valid insight of Nigerian Army Ranks, Salaries Structure, Logo, Symbols, Functions and Code of conduct. The Structure of the Nigerian Army Personnel is based on their rank and years of service, with a structure that provides competitive pay compared to other military branches in Nigeria. The structure of the Staff Sergeant Sergeant Corporal Private Recruit 2. Commissioned officers Field Marshal - The highest rank in the military. However, there is no written evidence that there were field marshals in the history of Nigeria. It has a five-star rank. General - The highest rank that was in fact achieved by a Nigerian, four-star rank in Nigeria and ranked as nine by NATO. Lieutenant General - The high commissioned officer, three-star rank in Nigeria, national indicates the rank by number six. Colonel - The lower lever commissioned officer by the highest field officer. NATO gives it a five. Lieutenant Colonel - The lower category of the field officer. NATO indicates it by three. Captain - The highest rank in the tactical troops. It is indicated by NATO as two. First Lieutenant - He is the deputy of the Captain. The immediate superior rank. NATO states it by one. Second Lieutenant but has the same NATO ranking. The Structure of the Nigerian Army Salary The Nigerian army offers a very tangible amount of money as salary. Although, there sno valid information on the precise amount earned by the Nigerian army. The salary of the Nigerian army increases as they advance from one level to another. This is the estimated monthly salary of the Nigerian army increases as they advance from one level to another. This is the estimated monthly salary of the Nigerian army increases as they advance from one level to another. This is the estimated monthly salary of the Nigerian army increases as they advance from one level to another.
General earns about - N1 million; Brigadier General earns about - N550,000; Colonel earns about - N550,000; Lieutenant Colonel earns about - N550,000; Lieutenant earns about - N550,000; Major earns about - N550,000; Lieutenant Colonel earns about - N550,000; Lieutenant earns about - N550,000; Major earns about - N550,000; Major earns about - N550,000; Lieutenant earns about - N550,000; Lieutenant earns about - N550,000; Major earns about - N550,000; Major earns about - N550,000; Lieutenant earns about - N550,000; Major earns about - N550,00 Warrant Officer earns about - N150,000; Staff Sergeant earns about - N130,000; Sergeant earns about - N100,000; Corporal earns about - N100,000; Nigerian Army is one of the most important armed forces in the country. The Nigerian Army ranks, symbols and badges arranged from the lowest rank to the highest. Each of this rank and position is attached with the symbols that best describe them. After reading this article, when you see any Nigerian Army by mere looking at their tag and symbol, you will definitely know his or her rank. 1. Lance corporal Lance corporal is the lowest rank in the Nigerian Army, a soldier of this rank, ranks higher than a private (Privates are the newly recruited soldiers). 2. Corporal This is second to the last in the hierarchy of Rank; the Corporal is the next rank that a Lance Corporal is the next rank that a Lance Corporal is the order of Nigerian Army. And although it is senior to both a Lance Corporal and Corporal, a Sergeant in the Nigerian Army is still a junior non-commissioned officer. To identify a Sergeant staff Sergeant is the fourteenth most powerful army in Nigeria. Staff Sergeant is next after Sergeant; but unlike the Sergeant, a Staff Sergeant is a superior non-commissioned officer in the Nigerian Army. Staff Sergeant can be identified by "a golden eagle above the triple V" marked badge on the uniform. 5. Warrant Officer is ranked thirteenth in the Nigerian Army. The warrant officer is the next in line of rank rank after Staff Sergeant in the order of Nigerian Army. It is thought to be a good rank for young military personnel. A Warrant Officer can be identified by the "golden eagle surrounded by golden crown made of olive leaves" marked badge on the uniform. 6. Master warrant officer is ranked number twelve in the Nigerian army. It is also known as Master Sergeant, Master Warrant Officer is the highest non-commissioned rank in the Nigerian Army. They are charged to deal with military equipment and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant is eleven positions. Like the Lance Corporal, Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and can be identified by an insignia which has the "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Second Lieutenant and "Nigerian coat of arm." 7. Sec most powerful army and next after the Second. And just as the Second Lieutenant from the second subordinate of a captain, the First Lieutenant from the second lieutenant from the seco undoubtedly the most famous in the rank within the army as it is known by both the learned and unlearned. It is ranked number nine in the Nigerian Army. First Lieutenant are subordinate to the Captain. The insignia of a Captain is made up of three six-pointed stars which are vertically aligned. 10. Major In the order of the Nigerian Army, the rank of Major eight positions and it is next after the Captain. It is liken to the naval rank of lieutenant colonel is one the most important ranks in the Nigerian Army, and it next after the Captain. It is liken to the naval rank of lieutenant Colonel Lieutenant Colonel is one the most important ranks in the Nigerian Army, and it is next after the Captain. It is liken to the naval rank of lieutenant Colonel is ranking seventh most powerful in Nigerian Army. The insignia for this rank is made up of one silver eagle above a vertically aligned six-pointed star above. 12. Colonel is among the top sixth ranks in the Nigerian Army. And he plays crucial duty to be responsible for the regiment. The insignia for Colonel is one silver eagle above a vertically aligned two six-pointed stars. 13. Brigadier Brigadier is ranking fifth general officer in the Nigerian Amy. When the Brigadier is been appointed to a field command, he is typically in command of a brigadier is made up of one silver eagle and six-pointed stars arranged in a triangular form. 14. Major general Major General is the fourth powerful phase of ranks in the Nigerian Army. As shown above, the symbol of Major General is made up of a golden eagle and a cross of sword and baton. 15. Lieutenant General The third in this category is the Lieutenant General. He is the third most powerful rank in the Nigerian Army. Its symbol is composed of all elements making up the symbol of Major General, and a golden six-pointed star. 16. General This is the second largest after the field marshal and so far in Nigeria, it is highest attained rank in the Nigerian Army. The General is identified by a silver eagle, two golden six-pointed stars and a cross of sword and baton. 17. Field Marshal The field marshal is another name for General of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately, no personnel since the establishment of the Army, it is the highest and apex rank in the Nigerian Army but unfortunately are the establishment of the Army but unfor and baton surrounded by two branches. The Strengths of the Nigerian Army The Nigerian army has a combat tanks a combat tanks a combat tank value which includes MBTS, tanks destroyers, light tanks. There is also Armour fighting vehicle values which includes MBTS, tanks destroyers, light tanks. There is also Armour fighting vehicle values which includes MBTS, tanks destroyers, light tanks.
(Rocket projector = 30 (Towed artillery = 338 (Armoured fighting vehicles are present in its thousands. Also among the strength of the Nigerian army is as follows; The Nigerian army is the man's power, the man power in Nigerian army is as follows; The Nigerian arm is on its way to become a formidable armed force. The Functions of the Nigerian army began functioning in 1960 and has effects which sweeps across a the land area of Nigeria; controlling land related vices, terrorism and are responsible for ensuring peace and stability of a humans that are present on Nigeria's land. Other functions of the Nigerian army includes; To help to support territorial wholesomeness To protect the country To protect areas of utmost importance To deliver basic defensive operations To attain highly specialized skills in delivering moral duties The Meaning of the Nigerian Army Logo The Nigerian Army Logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle on the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo is one symbol of the eagle of the Nigerian Army logo way the eagle hovers above and attacks with precision, that's how the army strikes Nigeria's enemies when fighting a war. The symbol of the star represents the unity of Nigeria as one indivisible nation. This could be traced back to 1914, during the amalgamation. The yellow and black colour on the star represents the Southern and Northern Protectorates that formed one Nigeria. The Arabic writing in the Nigerian Army logo when transcribed in English means 'Victory comes from God alone'. The colour red on the flag stands for threat and enemy elements while the black represents the Nigerian Army 1. The Infantry This branch of the Nigerian army encompasses soldiers that come close enough to the enemy to fire and manoeuvre attacks, they engage in close attacks, counter attacks and repel enemy's assault to defeat and capture them. They are the combat strength of the army 2. The Armour This branches is one of the active combat arm that make use of tanks and solider to support the infantry and Calvary and make forward strikes during mobile combat operation. 3. The Aviation This branch of the army aviation is concerned with mission to prompt and sustain combat conditions and usually comprises of helicopter and light weight aircrafts. 4. The Field artillery They are well-known as the boss of the war. They are the leader of the soldiers, they joined knowledge and technical expertise of all the Nigerian army weapon system to offer all type of fire power. They are specialists within the capabilities of cannons, rockets, missiles, naval gunfire, and close air support. 5. Special corps This branch encompass all the highly specialized workforce that are involved accomplishing special warfare techniques. They coordinate several mission such as counterterrorism, strategic reconnaissance, foreign internal defence artillery cut across all positions concerned with the employment of Air Defence Artillery weapons in support of military land combat operations and against enemy aircraft and missile attacks. Depending on the type of missions, Air Defences Artillery units can be found defending the ground-rousing combat arms units or critical units/areas against enemy air attack. 7. Signal Corps officers blends along each combat leadership skills and technical effectiveness as they arrange and coordinate info systems that supports the command and management of the Army's forces. They also coordinate the installation, operations and the operation of the Army part of global defence communications systems. 8. Corps of Engineers The Corps of Engineer support and service that support and service that support and topographic missions. They manage facilities and housing support at military base. 9. Chemical corps The Chemical corps are concerned mostly on proper orientation toward operations, training, scientific development and acquisition activities in support of nuclear, biological, chemical and other natural defence scheme. 10. Transportation corps Transportation Corps encompasses those positions related to movement of officers and cargo through land, sea, and air 11. Medical corps The Medical Corps is part of the army medical department. This branch is an exclusive l branch of the Army. It comprises of three functional areas which are Clinical Medicine Staff, Command, and Research. 12. Veterinary corps The Veterinary corps may be a a part of the military Medical Department. The Corps coordinates its activities to four areas: veterinary food inspection and hygiene, animal medical care, veterinary preventive medicine and research and development 13. Adjutant general corps Officers within the Adjutant General's Corps serve in the least organization levels of the military wherever they arrange, develop, and use the Army's personnel management support systems. 14. Chaplain corps The Judge Advocate General's Corps is a unique branch of the army officers that are lawyers. Their functions include all legal practices like criminal law, administrative and civil law. 16. Military intelligence corps Military intelligence encompasses the use and integration of military intelligence corps Military intelligence functions at both strategic levels. How Can I Apply For Nigerian Army's web page at recruitment and choose your preferred course (SSC or DSSC) from the page. You will be redirected to the page where you can read the gualification criteria for the ongoing SSC and DSSC ourses. Click on the "Apply Now" button for your chosen course (SSC or DSSC). After which you will be required to select if you are serving/have served in the Armed Forces of Nigeria, choose the appropriate option and proceed. If have not created an account click on "Sign Up", after which a verification link will be sent to your email or enter you login details and log in. Fill out the form and ensure all required documents listed below are uploaded: Passport photograph. Educational certificates. Evidence of membership of any professional body. Certificate of state of origin. Birth certificate or age declaration. For DSSC applicants, note that the qualification selections available to you are dependent on the preferred corps selected. Applicants must print out their photo-slip which would be generated online on completion of their application. The first page is to be signed by the Registrar of any Court of Law while the second page is to be signed by the applicant's state of origin. Tips: The Nigerian military officer of the rank of Lieutenant Colonel or equivalent and above who hails from an applicant's state of origin. Tips: The Nigerian military is endowed with the sole responsibility of protecting the citizens and sovereign territorial borders against external threats. Codes Of Operation Includes Order, Hierarchy, Discipline. This means that the Nigerian armed forces is organized and abides by certain decrees and operates within a structural hierarchy. Share — copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format for any purpose, even commercially.
Adapt — remix, transform, and build upon the material for any purpose, even commercially. The licenser cannot revoke these freedoms as long as you follow the license, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use. ShareAlike — If you remix, transform, or build upon the material, you must distribute your contributions under the same license as the original. No additional restrictions — You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits.
You do not have to comply with the license for elements of the material in the public domain or where your use is permitted by an applicable exception or limitation. No warranties are given. The license may not give you all of the permissions necessary for your intended use. For example, other rights such as publicity, privacy, or moral rights may limit how you use the material
```