Click Here

Last Updated on September 2, 2024 Falling in love comes without a warning. Theres no knowing what youre jumping into once youve gone head over heels for someone. It just happens in the spur of the moment, doesnt it? Were here to tell you that its okay. However, getting to know your significant other is a very important part of the relationship Men are from Mars and women are from Venus is a self-explanatory metaphor; it tells us why there is a great way to know them.Let me tell you something about men; you can live with them for over a decade and theyll still pop up with a new trait. And all these years youd wonder whether oblivion got the best of you! Men arent as vocal or conversational as women are. Well, not all men at least. Asking them questions is a great way to get them talking. I can not emphasize enough the need for connecting and unsheathing layers of the unknown when it comes to relationships that involve intimate love. Knowing your plus one will give you an insight into their goals, beliefs, their personality, and whether or not they take you seriously! Weve formulated sets of questions that will extract all the necessary information you need to know about your man. I also came across an interesting video that all women should watch before they get married: 1 Questions: The Initial Acquaintance PeriodThese 25 questions are for those who recently got into a relationship or are planning to move forward with one. What are your best memory from childhood? Who are you the closest to in your family and why?What do your parents do?Tell me about your experience in high school?Are you believe in God?Are you believe in God you had the option to erase one snippet from your life, what would it be?Whats one thing you can not live without?Are you an introvert or an extrovert?Which tv show do you binge-watch?Tell me the funniest moment of your life. Have you ever hated someone?Have you ever encountered something traumatic in your life? Level 2 Questions: Breaking The IceIts time to move over to some straightforward and mildly blunt conversations! And these questions will do just the trick. Whats the first thing you noticed about me? Have you ever been in a relationship before? Would you ever use tinder? What are your feel insecure about me the most? When was the last time you cried, and why? Do you feel insecure about women who make more money than you? Name something that makes you smile instantlyWhat are you proud of most in your life?What is the bravest thing you have ever done?What do you think is your best physical feature?What is the kindest gesture you have made to a girl?In your opinion, what is the best compliment for a woman? If I handed you a sack full of money, what is one valuable lesson that your parents taught you? What is one mistake your parents made that you never wish to make in your life?Whats the most used app on your phone?Are there any chores you enjoy doing?Would you prefer going out with friends or having a movie night at home?What is your guilty pleasure?Do you consider yourself romantic?Name something that makes you smile instantly.Level 3 Questions: Getting Upclose And Personal Time to heat things up a bit. These 10 questions might be a tad bit bold and out-there. Nevertheless, its important to ask these to make yourself lucky to have me as your companion? Are we just friends or is it more than this? You know how complicated I am, do you still want me?When Im not around, do you miss me?Is it okay if I post a picture with you on Instagram?Will you introduce me to your parents soon?What if I suddenly went missing, what would you do?Do you feel jealous when I talk to other guys?Do you trust me?Level 4 Questions: Probing Deeper Into MenLevel 4 questions focus on the bigger picture. Now that its official that the two of you are into each other, its time to unravel some secrets and hidden sentiments! Why did you break up with me? Does it upset you when I talk to other guys? If you could take me anywhere in the world, where would it be?Do you like kids? Do you plan on having a family someday?What turns you off the most?Tell me your deepest darkest secrets. Explain to me what love is.Do you think youre in love with me? How?Whats the biggest turn-on for you?Level 5 Questions: Discovering New TraitsNow that the two of you have spent a considerable amount of time together, you might as well play a truth or dare game with the following questions. They will bring you closer and give you a heads up for better future collaboration. Would you like to visit my parents someday? Would you rather explore the world with your friends or me? Are you okay with me having male friends? Do you want to marry me?If we end up marrying each other, would we move into our own apartment?What expectations do you have of me as a wife?Say I have to shift states because of my job, would you be able to keep up with a long-distance relationship?Have you happy in this relationship you happy in this relationship you happy in this relationship you happy in this relations when you thought of giving up on this relationship? If yes, why?Where do you see us in a span of ten years?If my parents ever fall sick, would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you for plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other?Would you help me take care of them?How do you plan on splitting finances if we end up marrying each other. FAQ SectionWhat is an interesting question to ask a guy?Whats the first thing you notice about me?Have you ever been in a relationship before?Would you ever use tinder?What do I talk to a guy about?Get to know him by asking him about his interests, hobbies, beliefs, morals, and future goals. Marriage is a union of two people. It's something that happens when you're madly in love and are super eager to start the person you're dating confidently answer these nine questions? I hope so!Here are nine questions you should ask the man you want to marry before the wedding:1. What makes you love me? Love can't be universally defined. It makes everyone feel special in their own way. When you're in a natural state of happiness almost all the time. Every relationship teaches you to love unlike before. RELATED:11 Guys Reveal What Really Attracts Them To A Woman Besides LooksYour Romeo or Juliet should be able to answer exactly why they love you so much.2. Why do you want to spend eternity with me? Eternity is a really, really long time. It's thousands of hours together, countless meals, and millions of conversations, and all of them won't be perfect. Your soul mate should want to take the love journey with you. They should be able to explain why they want to spend the rest of their life with you, for a reason other than "because I love you." 3. How will you keep our spark alive and happy? Relationships require effort, and then a little more effort. The spark can be really strong, other times it can waiver, and sometimes it can go on a hiatus. It's all part of the ride. Keeping the magic from fading can often be a challenging task. You need to feel assured that your true love will do whatever it takes to keep your passion alive and growing. RELATED: 6 Honest Signs You're Not Ready For A Relationship ... Yet4. How will we get through the rough patches? When life is good, it's really good. When things are bad, well, that's a different story. Bad times are how relationships get off track. When curve balls are thrown at you, your love for each other is tested. When things are super sucky? Will they be a good listener? Will he or she provide advice? Will you emotionally support each other? Are you prepared to work through the tough times? These are all questions the person you want to marry must be able to answer very, very well! 5. How will you prioritize me and us? Life can get in the way of love. Happy, loving, healthy marriages stay wonderful because both people choose to put effort into each other. When children, stress, work, and minutia weigh down on you, you need a ride-or-die partner. You should ensure that your sweetheart is going on. Your relationship should be an escape from the outside world. Your loved one should have a solid answer for how he or she is going to prioritize the two of you.RELATED:7 Common Phrases The Happiest Couples Never Say To Each Other6. Will you be an active parent?Parenting is hard. I don't have a newborn, but I can surely tell you from a lot of second-hand experience that they're hard work. They take patience and a little bit of perseverance. You have to make sure your partner is going to be a good parent. Is your nearest and dearest okay with sharing the parenting responsibility? Will your partner be a positive influence in the life of your child? Confirm that the love of your life is going to be an active parent so you won't be the only sleep-deprived one in the relationship.7. Will you show me how much you love me? Actions speak louder than words. You can say something 100 times, but it's what you do that really counts. Both women and men want to be reassured that they're loved a whole lot. How will you show your beloved that you're madly in love with him or her? RELATED: 10 Signs You've Finally Found Your Forever Person8. Will you woo me?Once you're happy in a relationship, it's easy to accidentally say sayonara to the wooing and romance. You get into a routine and forget to court each other. Pardon my French, but you want to make sure your partner is going to continue to surprise the heck out of you. How will your partner give you butterflies and make you feel extra special?9. Will you promise to communicate? Not everyone is an excellent communicator. Opening up and sharing your feelings isn't natural for everyone is an excellent communicator. Opening up and sharing your feelings isn't natural for everyone is an excellent communicator. you. Will they promise to always talk to you? There's no greater joy than being in love. Love shakes you to your core. Make your love last forever. Carly Spindel is a Matchmaker and relationship expert who has introduced 110 couples. She is passionate about spreading love throughout the country. Marriage is a big step in pretty much any relationship. and it's important to be ready. Having the right conversations can help ensure that you are, so start with these 100 questions to ask before marriage. Getting married is the ultimate statement about the commitment and love you have for someone you want to spend the rest of your life with, but love isn't always enough. There are questions to ask before marriage that go beyond love - stuff like whether you want kids, how you deal with conflicts, your deepest beliefs, the way you handle finances, and what you expect from your extended family. So set aside some time to get comfy with your partner wants kids? What about how they'll handle tough stuff like discipline? These are a few questions to ask your partner about children? How do you want to install in your children? How do you want to install in your children? What would you do if one of your kids said they were questioning their gender or sexuality? What if our children didn't want to go to college? How much say do children have in a family? How comfortable are you around children? Would you be opposed to having our parents watch the children so we can spend time alone together? Would you be opposed to having our parents watch the children have in a family? How comfortable are you around children in private or public school? What are your thoughts on home schooling? Would you be willing to adopt if we couldn't have kids? Would you be willing to seek medical treatment if we couldn't have kids? Would you want kids? Would you want someone to stay home with the kids or use day care? How would you feel if our kids wanted to join the military rather than go to college? How involved do you want grandparents to be in our parenting? How will we handle parental decision-making? Quick Tip It's okay if you or your partner doesn't know the answer to these questions. You might not even be sure you want kids. The point is having the conversation before marriage and getting to know how each of you think about important parenting-related stuff. Read More 35 Touching Things to Say to the One You Love Anyone who has been a relationship for a while knows that conflict is a normal part of it. It's how you deal with the conflict that matters. Make sure you're going to have a healthy relationship by dealing with these pre-marriage questions about conflict. Would you be willing to go to marriage? If there is a disagreement between your family and me, how would you decide whose side you would choose? How do you handle disagreements in general? Would you ever consider divorce? Would you ever consider divorce? Would you aren't satisfied sexually? What is the best way to handle disagreements in a marriage if we're both feeling angry? How can I be better at communicating with you? Read More Relationship Communication Quotes That Inspire Couple Goals Your values can matter a lot in a marriage include religion, politics, social issues, and more. Basically, you need to jump right into all those topics that are off-limits when you first meet someone. These are just a few questions to ask a fianc before you get serious about marriage? What are your religious views on infidelity? What are your views on infidelity? What are your views on birth control? Would you rather be rich and miserable or poor and happy? Who will make the biggest decisions of the household? What would you follow the advice of your family before your spouse? What do you believe the role of a spouse is? Who should do household chores? Do you believe people can make poor decisions and still be good people? Why or why not? Quick Tip Even if you think you and your partner share the same cultural or religious background, you might be surprised at some of their answers to these questions. That's okay. A lot of the time, you can use your communication skills to find a middle ground. Money debt, and finances are important things to talk about before marriage too. If you're already living together, you might have had some of these conversations as part of that. Still, it's good to ask anyway and make sure you're both clear on where you stand when it comes to money. Start with these questions: How do you feel about debt? Would you share all money with your spouse or split the money? What are your views on saving money? What are your views on spending money? What are your views on problems? Do you have any debt? What if a family member wants to borrow a large sum of money? Who will take care of the financial matters of the household? Don't forget to have fun too; get to know your partner even better through lighter questions. Find out what your future spouse thinks by including some entertainment and lifestyle points in your list of questions for couples: Do you enjoy traveling? How often would you like to travel? Where would you like to travel? How important is spending time alone to you? What would be the perfect weekday evening to you? What would we do if we both had a break from work but each of us had different ideas on how to spend it? In-laws can be a source of conflict in marriage, especially if you haven't talked about things ahead of time. There's no way to anticipate every challenge you might face related to extended family, but you can include some family and relation topics among the 100 questions to ask your partner. How often would you want to visit your family? How often would you want to visit my family? Do you have a family history of diseases or genetic abnormalities? What if one of your family members said he disliked me? How would we handle holiday family visits? If your parents became ill, would you take them in? Family health and personal medical information might not be the first thing you think to ask your parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? Family health and personal medical information might not be the first thing you think to ask your parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents became ill, would you mind taking them in? If my parents be before marriage. Start with these questions you should ask your future spouse. Does anyone in your family struggle with alcoholism or substance abuse? What is your medical family history? If you are struggling with an emotional challenge or depression, would you be opposed to mental health treatment? If I had to change my diet because of medical concerns, would you be willing to change yours? Are you willing to workout together to improve our health? Over 100 topics to talk about marriage and relationships. This is important stuff, so don't leave it out. What would you do if we fell out of love? What are your career aspirations? What would you like to be doing five or ten years from now? What do you think life will change if we got marriage? What is the best way to keep the love alive in a marriage? What is your idea of the best weekend? How important are wedding anniversaries to you? What type of house do you want to be someday? What excites you about getting married? What do wedding rings mean to you? Are you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you about getting married? What is your biggest fear about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you about getting married? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? What excites you afraid to talk to me about marriage? anything? What do you think would improve our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about the future of our relationship? Do you have any doubts about all these things at once. Take your time and tackle one or two questions each evening. While you might have 1,001 questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you might have 1,001 questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married, consider throwing in some random questions to ask before you get married throwing the properties of the properti pets? What kind? How many pets do you want? What to do during retirement? At what age would you like to retire? Read More 100+ Relationship Goals Quotes to Motivate and Inspire Before getting married, be sure that you and your partner thinks by checking out even more fun questions and conversation starters: 70+ Intimate Questions to Ask Your Partner about topics, such as the past, the future, intimacy, and attraction 25 Stimulating Deep Relationship Questions for Couples about topics like silly guirks and personal preferences in terms of food, drinks, and general favorites Road Trip Questions for Couples related to favorite ways to relax 18 Printable Relationship Compatibility Questions for some great discussions prior to marriage to solidify your thoughts on how well you two mesh together 21 Revealing Questions to Ask a Guy about childhood memories, worldviews, and romantic preferences 100+ Yes or No Questions that are completely random and lots of fun (You'll still learn things about each other, but have some laughs in the meantime.) Thoughtful questions that are completely random and lots of fun (You'll still learn things about each other, but have some laughs in the meantime.) If you and your partner are seriously considering a commitment, set aside some time to have these conversations before marriage so you can be sure of what you both think and feel. Even if you have a long list of deep questions to gauge whether marriage should be the next step in your relationship. 2025 LoveToKnow Media. All rights reserved. Congratulations! If you are wondering if he is giving you signs he wants to marry you. Its been a good few months or years, and now youre at the stage of your relationship where things are fabulous, but youre puzzled whether he is going to propose soon or not. So, lets help you as well share some signs he loves you and, wants to marry you, and cant see a future without you anymore. How long does it take a man to know he wants to marry you? This is very individual, and although there is no definite answer to this question, there are signs he wants to marry you. Luckily, we can (maybe) guess it and see it coming if we are paying attention to certain behaviors or gestures. Not to forget, according to research where 2000 people were polled, it was found that, on married, there are some common indicators that may suggest your partner is serious about a future together. So, looking for signs a man wants to marry me soon as he always discussing future plans with me? It is a very clear sign he sees himself with you for a long time. If hes talking about 5-year goals with you, he is certainly serious about taking the next step. Guys dont discuss future plans unless they are serious about the relationship. RELATED READING: Planning for the Future: The Marriage Financial Checklist 2. Youre always his plus-one of youre wondering how to everyone, hes giving signs he wants to marry you.3. He is always on timeBeing on time is a sign he respects you Even more, he appreciates you and loves you very much, and he is grateful for every minute you spend together. Isnt it great to have a guy who is always punctual?4. Hes touchyDo you catch yourself cuddling a lot more, just like you did at serious about your future together. If the first thing when he asked you to move in was he wants to marry me, well, you might have been right!8. Hes vulnerable side more, its a clear sign he trusts you and sees a long-term friend and lover in you.RELATED has mentioned marriage to you before. It might have been just a passing thought, but he would never have mentioned it if it hadnt crossed his mind!11. Hes all over youHe just cant get enough of you! When a man wants you, he cant hide it. Hes not being a plague; dont give him a hard time for this, but understand hes just showing signs he will marry you someday!12. He shares family stuff with youWe all have skeletons in our closets. If your guy shares some pretty personal family stuff with you, he wants you to know it for a reason. It shows he is vulnerable and ready to commit to you.RELATED QUIZ: Is Your Boyfriend Ready for Marriage Quiz?13. He confides in you about business stuff, tooSome guys can be very mysterious when it comes to their careers and everything thats happening at work. If you had no desire to become one of them, too. However, its a good sign hes ready for marriage if you keep hanging out with his married friends! There are many clear signs he wants to join accounts, this is a HUGE thing and definitely one of the signs he wants to wife you. Otherwise, he would never suggest this. Its also one of the signs hes the one because you dont want a man whos afraid to share his financial background with you. 16. Hes giddy as in seeing the ring and just having fun planning it all out. Maybe you thought his all-of-a-sudden great mood was not a big deal, but it actually might be one of the signs he might want to marry you, which definitely means it is a big deal! 17. His clock is ticking too old and might pop the question sooner rather than later if they want to start their family on time.18. He gives you hintsIf he is giving you some hints such as start looking at dresses or book your calendar off, it means he has something planned for the two of you. He must be too shy to put it forth blatantly, but things are sure in his mind.19. He cares about your interestIf he asks about your work, friends, or hobbies, it means you matter to him, and he wants to know whats happening in your world. This also opens up a great source of communication. RELATED READING: 30 Revealing Signs He Cares More Than He Says20. His language changedIf he has stopped saying if and using when instead, he has clearly decided in his mind that the marriage is happening soon. This only shows his confidence in being with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. Personal or business, hes willing to share them with you. Personal or business, hes willing to share them with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Sharing is caringHe doesnt mind sharing his things with you. 21. Shari know how long it takes a man to know he wants to marry you, but one thing we know: if he keeps saying, Youre the only one who He is thinking about making you his wifey.23. He asks for your opinionImportant decisions to be made, and who does he go to? You. Now, he no longer handles things in his head but shares them with you. If youre wondering, Does he want to marry me? you can be sure that you are now his go-to person, and he may very soon propose to you. 24. He likes sleepovers you, and sees a future with you. This shows his extreme level of involvement. 25. He makes marriage jokesOne of the clearest signs is that he jokes about marriage a lot. Except that hes not ready to come out yet.26. Vacations together and wants to book more.27. He books vacations together, your relationship is mature, and he probably sees himself marrying you if he enjoys vacations together and wants to book more.27. He books vacations together. for next yearIf hes already considering booking vacations for next year, it might be one of the signs he wants to marry you because why would he think so far ahead in the future?28. He is choosing exotic destinations for holidayNow, this might be one of the hints he will propose. If youre usually not going to the Bahamas for summer, there might be a good reason why youre choosing it now.29. Hes already in the roleIf he acts like your husband already: asks for your advice, turns to you for support in hard times, respects you, and is not afraid to show it in public, too, it means he is already playing that role in your life.30. He believes in marriageSome guys dont. And those who do, they will let you know. He wants you to know he believes in it, and thats plenty of signs that he really wants to marry you in the future (or very soon).31. He doesnt laugh when others talk about marriageTheres a tendency to laugh off a topic anyone wants to avoid. And with marriage, most people do that to avoid further talks. But hes mature enough and even more. It might be another sign he wants to marry you.32. He is very relaxed near youVery, very comfortable with someone are the most important things. And if you feel the chills in your company, its definitely a positive thing.33. Youre family, tooHe considers you are part of his family. He counts you, invites you to family events, and does the same things for you as he would for his family. You probably already are if you feel like part of his family. He talks about the future, and youre there toof hes talking about changing careers, buying a house, or moving to another country, he sees you there, too, and mentions it.35. WeIf hes using we instead of I or me, it is a sign he has changed his perception and accepted the idea you two are one now.36. He talks about kidsIf he mentions kids, or you see him looking at other families with kids and commenting on it, its probably because its on his mind, too.37. He mentions weddings and venuesOne of the common things to consider before making your wedding is the venue. If your boyfriend is looking around at hotels or other venues, hes going to ask you to marry him soon.38. Hes never jealous than others, but its certain he wants a future with you if he never reacts to certain things and has 0 jealousy. He trusts you, and he is the one to marry.RELATED READING: How to Stop Being Jealous in Your Relationship: 15 Tips39. Hes saving money for something and being very mysterious about it. Maybe for your wedding? Or it could be that he has become more cautious with money because he is saving for the future. 40. Talking about parentingIts crucial for him to know where you are when it comes to kids, and he wants to know this before he pops the question of you have totally different ideas about raising kids.41. Aging together and gets you to imagine all the things you could do when youre older, he sees himself marrying you. This is, in fact, one of the biggest lines of the proposal as well.42. Youre the one to callHe can count on you at all times. You both have built such a strong connection that he thinks of you first in times of need. Youre his emergency contact. Not his mom or sister. You.43. You feel free to be yourself around himYou can be yourself without any filter. You both lay bare your insecurities. The crucial thing to consider before popping the question Can I be me when I am with her? If youre both free to be yourselves, happy days!44. He opens up a savings account (with you)If hes discussing saving plans with you, he sees himself sharing his future with him. This is classical he wants to marry you psychology, and its good hes thinking this way.45. He gives you the credit cardHe trusts you so much that he lets you have his money. He almost considers his money as yours. If he feels free to share his credit cardHe trusts you so much that he lets you have his money. He almost considers his money as yours. If he feels free to share his credit cardHe trusts you so much that he lets you have his money. He almost considers his money as yours. If he feels free to share his credit cardHe trusts you have his money. you.46. He wants to know it allHes dropping questions about your dream wedding. What is the dress like, whats the location, food, etc.? He discusses all such things because he wants to understand where you both match and how this can be planned. Watch this video where Matthew Hussey, a dating expert and life coach, explains the secrets to how when you know your relationship is reaching another level.RELATED QUIZ: Which Type of Engagement Ring Should You Get Quiz?49. You stop by the jewelry to weddings, and wants you to comment on diamond rings so he can get to know your taste. How cute!50 He is very mysteriousHe is planning things in secrecy. Probably because he wants to surprise you, and you wonder about what he does, where he goes, and what hes up to. He is probably arranging the ring or the proposal site! How exciting!RELATED QUIZ: Is He Going to Propose Quiz? FAQsMarriage is a significant milestone in a relationship. you to family and close friends, and showing a strong commitment to the relationship. A guy may want to marry you based on various factors such as love, compatibility, emotional connection, shared values, trust, communication, and a desire for a long-term commitment with you as a life partner. The time frame varies for each person. Some men may know within months, while others may take years. Factors influencing this include emotional readiness, stability in the relationship, and shared experiences that solidify the bond. Before proposing, a man may display signs like increased affection, spending quality time together, discussing future plans, seeking your opinion on important matters, and showing a heightened interest in your happiness and well-being. He may also be nervous or excited about the proposals topic. Takeaway There are so many signs he wants to marry you, but its still a mystery what makes them decide when the right time is. As psychologist and marriage therapist Silvana Mici says, The decision is very personal and different for every individual. Keep in mind that these are just general signs and can differentiate from person to person. As we said, no one knows how long it takes a man to know he wants to marry you, but when he wants you, he will do anything to win you permanently. Men and women speak different languages, and we know from the book Men are from Mars, Women are from Venus. However, we can still get around and try to decipher mens behavior and see if hes getting ready to pop the big question soon. //www.aau.edu/research-scholarship/featured-research-topics/men-have-biological-clock-too-rutgers-studyfinds#:~:text=Men%20who%20delay%20starting%20a,children%2C%20according%20to%20Rutgers%20researchers. ~:text=She%20found%20that%2020%25%20of,without%20the%20presence%20of%20children. Want to have a happier, healthier marriage? If you feel disconnected or frustrated about the state of your marriage but want to avoid separation and/or divorce, the marriage.com course meant for married couples is an excellent resource to help you overcome the most challenging aspects of being married. Take Course When we think about finding someone, falling in love, and settling down, we rarely like to think about the hardships and unexpected experiences that come with marriage. And though you cant prevent life, unexpected barriers, and obstacles from rattling your relationship, you can make sure your union is as strong as possible to withstand them all; ideally, that process would start longbefore you get engaged and then feel like its too late," says marriage therapist Hatty J. Lee. Meaning, let this be your warning: Now's the time for you and your partner to have plans to make things official and walk down the aisle. Nervous about having this serious discussion? The key to facilitating a productive conversation is ensuring that you create a safe space for all opinions to be shared. What's more, always remember that it's totally normal to disagree on some issues, as you and your significant other won't have the same viewpoints about everything. Lee also reminds couples that there's usually "something a lot deeper" to the positions people hold, including fears that may be dictating their stance on certain topics. Whether it's fears surrounding being a good spouse or parent, or fears of conflict, couples need to be able to find ways to identify those fears and nurture security around them. Meet the ExpertHatty J. Lee, L.M.F.T., is a marriage therapist and founder of Oak and Stone Therapy based in California. Antia and Brody Boydare relationship experts with over 20 years of experience helping women worldwide attract loving, long-term, committed relationships. If the disagreements are causing pain, however, know that it's acceptable to hit pause on your engagement plansat least until you sort things out. "If at any point you find youre bothmen worldwide attract loving, long-term, committed relationships. If the disagreements are causing pain, however, know that it's acceptable to hit pause on your engagement plansat least until you sort things out. "If at any point you find youre bothmen worldwide attract loving, long-term, committed relationships out." engaging in destructive, painful relational patterns with each other, pause and take a break instead of rushing and forcing yourself to go through with the process," says Lee. "The issue is not going to come up in full force once you're married." Finally, Lee caps off her advice by sharing, "You can ask any question whenever you want, because, at the end of the day, if youre thinking about it and if its something thats important to you, you don't want to be wasting your time." Just remember to come from a place of vulnerability and explain why it's important to you. Ahead, here are 15 questions to ask your partner before you get married, because an uncomfortable conversation now can save you so much heartache later. If you and your partner don't see eye to eye when asking the below questions, don't panic: "Its very important to ask, 'Is this a need, or is this non-negotiable'? Even if you disagree on a lot of it, but its all negotiable, you can work through that," Lee says. First and foremost, you need to talk about money. Since finances can be a major source of relationship stressbetween couples, being on the same page early on is crucial. "Its definitely a big sore spot for a lot of couples," says Lee, who recommends that people discuss debt, spending, and saving. When approaching the subject, asking about financial goals is a lot more whether the two of you are financially compatiblenot in terms of how much you earn, but in how you view and manage money. One of the best things you can do for your partner is to learn how to help them when theyre down. Some people need reassurance, others need a pep talkeveryone is different. But when were actually stressed and struggling, we may not be able to communicate these needs fully. Establishing what you need in advance means you and your partner are able to help each other and cope with stress as it arises. Youd assume that everyone would touch base about children before they get married, but that doesn't always happen. While you should opinions may change over time, when and if you're both set on wanting kids and how many, great! The next question to ask is how to raise them. Lee suggests asking the following, "If we have children, what are your expectations around child care ancestion to ask is how to raise them. Lee parenting? Do you have any gender-based expectations? Are you a feminist? What is your ideal situationdo we both work and take care of the kids? Would you want to stay at home?" Also, discuss how each partner was raised and what you liked and didn't like about it. Everyone hears that communication is crucial for a relationship, but it can be tricky to know how to have healthy communication if you both seem to have different communication styles. So while it seems meta, communicate about communicate better in writing? Unlock the communication issue and everything else gets easier. If you and your partner are thinking about marriage, chances are you've already discussed your love languages. However, if you haven't delved deep into this subject yet, don't avoid asking this question and learning about the way your partner prefers to be loved, while also sharing your preferences. Understanding how to show up for your spouse in the future will set a great foundation for romance and communication within your marriage. Everyone has deal-breakers. They may be about traditional issueswhether you want children, what religion you want them to be raised, what you need from a partner, but they can also look totally different. Your deal-breakers could be about where you need to live, passion projects you want to pursue, or career goals you need support to meet. Knowing these non-negotiables will give you a good sense of the landscape of your future and whether it works for both of you. If your deal-breakers fit together, your marriage has a much stronger chance of survival. Everyone needs along time, but some people need more than others. If you dont know that alone time is a normal need for your partner, you may assume that theyre withdrawn, angry, or resentful when they seek space. Establishing early on that you both need alone timeand how that manifestswill not only strengthen your relationship, it will prevent confusion in the future. Spirituality and religion are topics that, if not aligned, can cause a relationship to end just as guickly as it began. "Understanding each other's beliefs regarding these areas can be critical to knowing how to navigate conversations around important topics, as well as which values and teachings you will both consciously want to pass onto your future children," relationship experts Anita and Brody Boyd explain. It might not be an easy question, but its one that can get you right to the bottom of what makes someone tick. Marriage is about understanding fears, regrets, and strugglesespecially in relation to marriage. Make sure that youre asking the tough questions and your marriage was not a positive thing," says Lee. "Be able to have honest conversations around that. Nurture and be considerate of those fears and address them together." When trying to create a new family, it's necessary to set boundaries regarding in-laws. "Theres a lot of people who are still attached to their family," says Lee. Though being close to family is endearing, it may pose challenges later on, especially if you and your partner's family don't see eye to eye. "A bigger overarching question is, if were married, how would you approach that? What are your values around prioritizing our new family as a married couple? How much time do you see us spending with your family?" are some of the questions to ask. "Do you have any fantasies about what youre looking for in a marriage and in your partner might envision having nightly home-cooked meals, weekly date nights, regular travels, or acting as a unit in social situations, but that might not be what you want. Be aware of each other's marital fantasies to avoid surprises and disappointment after the wedding. Partners may have different views on how often sex should happen within marriage and it's important to honestly explore expectations on intimacy. "Thats part of the conversation around the relationship, what the expectations and fantasies are around that, especially given it changes around the course of our relationship," says Lee. "There are seasons when its really during those dry seasons, doesn't mean you've lost interest in your spouse. Collaborate in exploring other ways to be intimate. While it's safe to assume that you and your partner will spend a lot of time together when marriage is also important to align on how often you both expect to see friends and familyand how often you'd like to attend events and social outings. "Getting clear on how to align your social life together with friends and family is super important before getting married," share Anita and Brody. "It allows you both to get clear on your preferences and also get excited about the possibilities of what you can both experience together in this area." Marriage doesnt mean the same thing to everyone. Some people think its an almost all-consuming partnership, some people think its an almost all-consuming partnership. guaranteed way to divorce-proof your marriage, but you can give it the best chance at surviving and thriving. Having conversations before you get married on these big issues and making sure that your needs, wants, and expectations all line up can ensure your get married on these big issues and making sure that your needs, wants, and expectations all line up can ensure your get married on these big issues and making sure that your needs, wants, and expectations all line up can ensure your get married on these big issues and making sure that your needs, wants, and expectations all line up can ensure your get married on these big issues and making sure that your needs, wants, and expectations all line up can ensure your get married on these big issues and making sure that your needs, wants, and expectations all line up can ensure your get married on these big issues and making sure that your needs, wants, and expectations all line up can ensure your get married on the second of the se these nine questions? I hope so!Here are nine questions you should ask the man you want to marry before the wedding:1. What makes you love me?Love can't be universally defined. It makes everyone feel special in their own way. When you're in love, everything is better. You're in a natural state of happiness almost all the time. Every relationship teaches you to love unlike before. RELATED: 11 Guys Reveal What Really Attracts Them To A Woman Besides Looks Your Romeo or Juliet should be able to answer exactly why they love you so much. 2. Why do you want to spend eternity with me? Eternity is a really, really, really, really, really long time. It's thousands of hours together, countless meals, and millions of conversations, and all of them won't be perfect. Your soul mate should want to take the love journey with you, for a reason other than "because I love you." 3. How will you keep our spark alive and happy? Relationships require effort, and then a little more effort. The spark can be really strong, other times it can waiver, and sometimes it can go on a hiatus. It's all part of the ride. Keeping the magic from fading can often be a challenging task. You need to feel assured that your true love will do whatever it takes to keep your passion alive and growing. RELATED:6 Honest Signs You're Not Ready For A Relationship ... Yet4. How will we get through the rough patches? When life is good, it's really good. When things are bad, well, that's a different story. Bad times are how relationships get off track. When curve balls are thrown at you, your love for each other is tested. When life gets tough, that's when you really need your partner. How will your hone stick by your side when things are super sucky? Will they be a good listener? Will he or she provide advice? Will you emotionally support each other? Are you prepared to work through the tough times? These are all questions the person you want to marry must be able to answer very, very well! 5. How will you prioritize me and us? Life can get in the way of love. Happy, loving, healthy marriages stay wonderful because both people choose to put effort into each other. When children, stress, work, and minutia weigh down on you, you need a ride-or-die partner. You should ensure that your sweetheart is going to put time into you and your relationship -- regardless of what else is going on. Your relationship should be an escape from the outside world. Your loved one should have a solid answer for how he or she is going to prioritize the two of you. RELATED:7 Common Phrases The Happiest Couples Never Say To Each Other6. Will you be an active parent? Parenting is hard. I don't have a newborn, but I can surely tell you from a lot of secondhand experience that they're hard work. They take patience and a little bit of perseverance. You have to make sure your partner is going to be a good parent. Is your nearest and dearest okay with sharing the parenting responsibility? Will your partner be a positive influence in the life of your child? Confirm that the love of your life is going to be an active parent so you won't be the only sleep-deprived one in the relationship. 7. Will you show me how much you love me? Actions speak louder than words. You can say something 100 times, but it's what you do that really counts. Both women and men want to be reassured that they're loved a whole lot. How will you show your beloved that you're madly in love with him or her?RELATED:10 Signs You've Finally Found Your Forever Person8. Will you woo me?Once you're happy in a relationship, it's easy to accidentally say sayonara to the wooing and romance. You get into a routine and forget to court each other. Pardon my French, but you want to make sure your partner is going to continue to surprise the heck out of you. How will your partner give you butterflies and make you feel extra special?9. Will you promise to communicate? Not everyone is an excellent communicator. Opening up and sharing your feelings isn't natural for everyone. Being vulnerable is easier for some than others. It's imperative to make sure your better half lets you into every aspect of their life and shares everything with you. Will they promise to always talk to you? There's no greater joy than being in love. Love shakes you to your core. Make your love last forever. Carly Spindel is a Matchmaker and relationship expert who has introduced 110 couples. She is passionate about spreading love throughout the