Filter effects apply graphic operations such as blur, lighting, color transformations and contained distortions. Today's browsers implement three types of filters: CSS filters: a set of simple CSS properties such as sepia () and contrast (), which can be applied to any HTML content.svg filter: combinations of graphic effects that can be applied to content SVG (and HTML content through a CSS filter Cross Reference) .DX Filters are Microsoft's own filter effects. DX filters have been deprecated in Internet Explorer (IE) 9 and then removed in IE version 10 (although they can still be reactivated à €
