The file. For sites using streaming media, you never have a copy of the video, watch it flow. Once you find a site that meets your criteria for the platform, selection, quality and conditions of use, some simple questions can help you make your final choice: How much are the footage? Are they as expensive as DVDs? If so, would you prefer to find a cheaper alternative or choose top quality DVD? Rental and purchase options match what you are looking for? If the site offers a subscription program, do you have enough movies that interest you to make it interesting? Are movies compatible with any portable device you would like to use to watch them? Several sites ensure that their files will be played on any Microsoft PlaysForSure compatible device, but others have a more limited compatibility. Does the site use a file format with which you had positive or negative experiences in the past? Do you need a download manager or a proprietary reader? If so, would you mind downloading them and learning to use them, or would you prefer to use programs that you are already familiar with? The reader has all the features you want - can you pause, backup and move on quickly? To see a comparison between the offers of some sites, take a look at these articles by TechCrunch and ExtremeTech. Next, we will look at the download services of the currently available movies. Steve Lander i Thinkstock Images/Comstock/Getty Images iTunes is much more than an application for media management. It is also a gateway to one of the world's largest media stores, the iTunes Media Store. When you download a video via iTunes, Apple sends the file to your computer. The iTunes program determines where it is saved according to the configuration. By default, iTunes creates an iTunes Media folder within an iTunes folder in the main music folder. Unless you have changed the location where Windows saves your files, both Windows 8 and 7 use the directory «C:\Users\Upname\Musica\iTunes\iTunes Media.» To find the exact path, go to this directory, replacing "User Name" with the name you use to access your computer. All files downloaded from iTunes are sent to the iTunes Media folder. On Mac, iTunes works the same way. Also create a main iTunes folder where you create an iTunes Media subfolder for all your downloads. Unlike Windows, it uses a different directory scheme. To find files on a Mac, search Users/Username/Musica/iTunes/iTunes Media. Replace "User Name" with your actual username. If you do not like the current storage path, you have two options. One is to take the downloaded filmed file and move it yourself by cutting and pasting it into a new drive orWhen you reopen the file in iTunes, the program will ask you to say where the new file is located. The other option is to have iTunes move its entire iTunes directory to a different location. You can do this through the iTunes Preferences tool. By default, iTunes stores downloaded files on The main hard drive of the computer. If you have a lot of iTunes downloads as well as other material stored on your hard drive, you could run out of space quickly. Transfer iTunes files, if you do it one at a time or in a fallen swoop, store space on the main hard drive. This also means that you will have space to download more movies. By Liz Jacobs image downloads from michanolimit from Fotolia.com Mozilla Firefox is a web browser similar to Internet Explorer or Google Chrome. The browser is part of the Mozilla Application Suite. Firefox makes downloading simple movies because once downloaded, a window opens that allows you to immediately access the download. Downloading a movie in Firefox is very similar to downloading a movie in any other browser. However, the download window looks different because Firefox has its own unique browser interface. Go to a site like Netflix, Movie Downloads, #1 Online Movie Downloads, Joost or Hulu. (See resources and references). Subscribe to the website. Some sites offer a 30-day free trial. Some sites listed are completely free of charge. Select the category "Films". Click on the cinema genre you want to see as comedy, drama or horror. Click on the particular movie that interests you. Click "Download". Some sites, such as Hulu, do not include a download button. Their films are on the net. To download them, go to a site like KeepVid, Video Downloader or Vidmonkey. Copy the URL of the movie you want to download. Put the URL in the KeepVid, Video Downloader or Vidmonkey box. Click "Submit." and your movie will begin downloading on your computer. Click on the file from the download window. Click "Open". Your movie will start playing. Walk in any house of a certain age (or with residents of a certain age), and it is pretty much guaranteed that somewhere - most likely in a basement or dank attic - you will find a stamping case of old house movies. When you stumble through a treasure trove like this, your first instinct might be to watch them immediately - or they converted them immediately to DVD. But hold that instinct for a second: There are a few steps you need to follow before taking any kind of jump with old house movies. We will pass through them in this article so you can make sure all your precious memories of Grande Aunt Ida are perfectly preserved. We know you're pretty psychiatric about finding the footage from your first trip to Disney World, but wait: You should first examine the movie or videotape to see if it is also playable. If it is in bad shape, it could damage even more by throwing it into an ancient projector or player. You can solve some problems of movies -- like broken joints and torn side perforations -- but it is often more difficult to repair awithout destroying the case. If you have to do with 8 or 16 mm movies, here are some signs that may need professional help (or be beyond repair): a vinegar smell (caused by the decomposition of the acetate film)wrinkles (also 1%It could cause damage to a projector or splicer) CuppingCrackingMoldif Find out that your movie is viewable - and your projector is in work order - by all means, go ahead and enjoy the à €
